We shall open to-morrow about 15 cases of men's and boys' straw hats that range in price from 50c upwards.

We have received a lot or boys' suits and knee pants; the latter we offer at 75c a pair. You cannot buy the cloth for it. Suits from $2 50 upward.

IN MEN'S & BURNISHING GOODS

You will find big bargains. We have a very large stock, and our prices are beyond comparison with others. Recollect one thing, that our great success in business is the result of selling goods cheap. When we first came here we were controlled by two firms. We started in selling goods cheap, and they persisted in selling them dear. The result is that to-day we do the business, and they repent their folly in letting us get their trade and the public's confidence away from them.

RECOLLECT ANOTHER THING.

We claim that the man, firm or concern that sells the same quality of goods for the least money is the house to trade with, and it is for you to ascertain who does it the cheapest. Of course, the People's Store claims to be that house, and it you trade with us you will find it so. We have confidence in our goods and in our prices. We know that when we mark an article it cannot be sold with a profit at a less price. Now the item of shoes. We are confident beyond a doubt that our shoes are better and sold for less money than any one. We buy them for cash, which is more than any one else can say. We discount one-fifth. Others can't afford it more than others can pay.

We have seventeen distinct departments; seventeen different business out of which to make up a combined profit of 22½ per cent. It costs us 15½ per cent to sell goods, and we add a profit of 10 per cent to cover every other item. Deducted from this is 4 per cent allowed for cash discount, leaving a net profit of 18½ per cent. Is there any one of our seventeen departments an expense of 18½ per cent to make out? Of course not. None can be run successfully under 25 per cent profit, and many as high as 200 per cent. Hence it follows that we sell cheaper than any house in town.

We offer you bargains in every department of our stores. We haven't the space to enumerate, but will be pleased to show them to you in our stores. We have received big invoices of shoes, and are making this department a special feature. It will pay you to come in our store or send for them if you are pleased purchase. Country orders solicited.

RATTLED RATES.

The Railway War Fairly Inaugurated,

AND SWEEPING CUTS ALL AROUND.

The Atchison Determined to Fight It Out—The Other Lines Show No Signs of Yielding.

Special Press Dispatches to The Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The overland war, growing out of the collapse of the Transcontinental Association, was continued to-day in a thoroughly effective way, both as to passenger and freight traffic. All lines running to and southwest from this city having California connections were booking passengers to-day to San Francisco at $50 for first-class unlimited, $40 for second-class unlimited, $25 for second-class limited, $45 for tourist, and $100 for colonist. In the matter of contracts for freight, no rates are quoted, but the agents have been given certain rates to secure business at any figure, and it is known that very large reductions are being made. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé did not announce its rates until this morning, awaiting the initiative had been taken by the Union and Southern Pacific Companies. The officials of the Atchison however assert that the war has been forced upon them against their wishes, and owing to their claim to what they deserved an equitable percentage of the overland traffic.

THE ATCHISON COMPANY'S DEMANDS.

The First Vice-President of the Atchison Company to-day, speaking of the situation, said that the company had given notice of its intention to withdraw from the Transcontinental Association December 4th, 1885, for the reason that the association was not organized upon what they deemed proper business principles. The Atchison Company had purchased an unlimited railroad in Southern California, as the California Southern Railroad, and afterwards proceeded to construct one hundred miles additional to the Needles, to connect with the Atlantic and Pacific road, which was completed November last. The purchase and construction of this road placed the Atchison Company, according to its claim, in a position to handle and control at least one-half the business to and from Southern California. There were but two roads into that territory. They argued that they were entitled to fifty per cent. of the business. It was on this claim that the association split at the meeting in New York city. The Atchison company asked that California be divided into two districts, the northern to the south of Mojave, and the southern south of that point. All the other roads in interest, the Southern Pacific, Central Pacific, Texas Pacific, Denver and Rio Grande, Burlington and Burlington and Missouri in Nebraska agreed this claim of the Atchison company.

WILL FIGHT IT OUT.

The official summing up said: Throughout the entire contest the Atchison Company has been on the defensive, but inasmuch as the Union and Southern Pacific roads have seen fit to initiate a war in rates, it is the purpose of our company to meet them at every corner and to see that the public has the full benefit of it. Whether or not this thing is possible, from low transportation. While the Atchison Company deeply regrets the position into which it has been forced, through the unjust action of other members of the association, and fully realizes the disastrous results which are to be experienced by all, it always foreseen, and has obtained, so far as revenue is assured, from a war in rates, they do not propose to give up the contest until the question of equality is conceded to their interests."

Some of the leading officials of any roads directly interested have been in the city, and their views upon the situation have been obtained. The connecting roads out of this city are passive, and do not expect to become involved in the fight beyond reducing through rates to the basis of the reduction of rates announced by the warring roads from their terminal points.

THE SITUATION IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—To-day the Boston agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad received orders to put freight tariff rates on a level with those of any of the Western lines. As a result freight rates were to day reduced about thirty per cent. The Sunset Route has made no rates, but to what extent is not generally known. Shippers, at this time of the year, are not making many consignments, and the roads, therefore, have made no terms with them in order to secure business at present. It is, therefore, difficult to ascertain at the offices of the companies, just what rates are. The officials of the Sunset Route say here at work upon a new tariff schedule, which it is expected will be completed and put into force on or before Monday next.

A meeting of Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, and Oregon and Transcontinental Companies' Presidents is being held here to-day to determine what action shall be taken in response to the notice to Pacific coast passenger and freight rates. It is expected that a uniform and reduced schedule will be agreed upon, which will bring to those points their share of the Western business.

The Baltimore and Ohio Road this morning the first and only trunk line out of New York to make a reduction in passenger tariff to San Francisco, in accordance with the recently adopted rates west of the Missouri river. The rates to San Francisco are as follows: Unlimited tickets, $83 50 for first-class limited, $73 50; and second-class, $60. The other trunk lines will probably follow to-morrow.

A BOY VIEW OF THE CASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Commenting on the war in rates now prevailing, the Bulletin this evening says: "It is believed, not only in the East, but here, that rates will never be restored to the old figures, and that the permanent reduction will be of immense benefit to California. By attracting hither a very large number of persons of the best kind for permanent residence who have been kept away by high rates. With the exodus of Chinese, which, it is confidently expected, will be one of the beneficial results of the large influx of house servants from the East is expected. Girls who have heard of the good wages here and the inability to Chinese, and who have had $70 laid up, will, as soon as they find the Mongolian evacuating the places, come out to take his place. The place of the labor question in the future is therefore liable to be satisfactorily disposed of by low passenger rates.

TAKING IT PHILOSOPHICALLY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The Central and Southern Pacific people take the decision of the transcontinental pool philosophically. C. P. Huntington stated the case thus: "I don't look for any more trouble than there has been under the pool. There was cutting then, and there will be cutting now. Naturally it would be expected that we should discontinue the Pacific Mail subsidy. We do not have to meet all along in favor of low rates; we believe in getting people to California to settle the country. At meetings we all agreed except the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, which insisted more than it earned or was able to earn. It earned twenty-two per cent. and wanted forty per cent. We objected and now we feel particularly friendly to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe line. How long the cutting of rates will go on it is impossible to say."

SENTIMENT IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Among the officials of the roads formerly connected with the trans-continents the news was great hustle and excitement this morning.

The publication in the papers of the list of rates has led to unprecedented inquiries of the cost of tickets to the various points East, and agents were kept busy answering inquiries. There is, however, little purchasing of tickets, as there is a general belief that rates will go lower.

The lowest rates quoted to-day are as follows: To New York, first-class, $70 or $75 for an unlimited ticket. To Boston, $65 first class, $65 for an unlimited ticket. To Chicago, third-class, $30.

CONGRESS.

An Investigation Demanded, in the Senate,

OF THE DEATH OF CAPTAIN CRAWFORD.

Bills Passed Removing Political Disabilities —Another Discussion in the House on the Silver Question.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—In the Senate Mr. Manderson offered a resolution directing the Secretary of State and the Secretary of War to inquire and report to the Senate the facts surrounding the killing of Captain Emmet Crawford, said to have been slain on or about January 10, 1886, by Mexican troops, and to report what steps were being taken for the punishment by the Mexican government of those guilty of the alleged outrage; also whether reparation and indemnity should not be made to those who suffered, and an ample explanation and apology be given to the United States for the apparently gross insult. In offering the resolution Mr. Manderson said it was due to the United States, not less than to the relations of the deceased, that inquiry should be made as to the killing of Capt. Crawford. Mr. Manderson read the official report of Lieut. Maus on the subject, and maintained that if the facts were there correctly set forth, they constitute a very severe reflection on the Mexican troops. Mr. Manderson paid a high tribute to the courarge and soldierly devotion of Capt. Crawford and animadverted with severity on the course pursued by the Mexicans. He expressed a hope that the United States would compel reparation, if necessary by force, from the Mexican government, in case that government should prove to be in any way responsible for the conduct of its troops in this instance.

Mr. Butler objected to the present consideration of the resolution.

Mr. Edmunds said that the custom of the Senate was to refer to the Committee on Foreign Relations all resolutions affecting our relations with foreign governments. The subject matter of the resolution should certainly be carefully inquired into, but not at this present moment. Mr. Edmunds continued: He were bound to assume that the President and Secretary of State were not slumbering on the subject, but were making a careful investigation and efforts to bring the Mexican government to punish whatever was wrong. Mr. Edmunds certainly hoped so, and could not doubt that that was the case.

The resolution, on Mr. Manderson's assent, was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Among the bills introduced and appropriately referred was one by Mr. Edmunds, relative to the eight-hour law. He said that the bill related to letter-carriers' hours of labor. These hours seemed to be really all that nature could endure.

The Education bill was placed before the Senate, and Mr. Evarts took the floor in its advocacy.

After the debate was closed, Mr. Edmunds, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported favorably bills to remove the political disabilities of Alexander H. Stewart of Mississippi, Thomas L. Rosser of Virginia and Edward G. W. Butler of Missouri. The bills were at once passed, Mr. Edmunds remarking that each one of the gentlemen was a gentleman and desired before leaving this world to be at peace with the United States.

After an executive session, the Senate adjourned until Tuesday next.

House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—In the House Mr. Hiscock offered a resolution rendering the thanks of Congress to Joseph Francis for his life-long services to humanity and his country in the construction and perfection of life-saving appliances, and authorizing the President to have prepared a gold medal, to be presented to Mrs. Francis. Passed.

The House went into committee of the whole on the private calendar.

On the first bill on the calendar, Mr. Scott, of Pennsylvania, moved to strike out the enacting clause, which motion was agreed to.

Mr. Bland, of Missouri, asked unanimous consent to offer a resolution making the free silver coinage bill on the calendar a continuing special order from Tuesday next.

Mr. Steele, of Indiana, objected.

The House then took a recess until 7:30, the evening session to be for the consideration of pension bills.

At its evening session the House passed 114 pension bills, and at 9:40 adjourned until Tuesday.

"Milton as an Educator."

Col. Homer B. Sprague, who presents the above subject in a lecture at Y. M. C. A. Hall to-night at 8 o'clock, receives the highest commendations from the press and scholars of note.

The Lowell Daily Courier says: A man of fine presence and clear, ringing voice—a lecture imparting much valuable information, and abounding in eloquent passages—he created an impression which will ensure him a hearty welcome whenever he comes to Lowell again.

For profound logic, elegant narration, polished elocution, and lofty eloquence the like has not been heard within the memory of those present.—[Auburn Daily Bulletin.

SENSATIONS

Piling Up on the Reels of the Trial.

Yesterday was a big day for sensations. Aside from the conclusion of the long and famous Perkins-Baldwin trial, with a verdict for plaintiff as big as the jury dare make it, there were other startling developments. Mrs. Hunter was Miss Perkins's principal witness to prove the engagement. On this account the defense concentrated their fire on her, and brought a whole drove of Colton cattle to swear away her character. She appeared a thorough lady on the stand, and told a perfectly straightforward story. But the horrible attack upon her preyed on her mind, naturally inclined to melancholy, and already saddened by the recent death of her mother and brother. Last Wednesday morning she left her home four miles west of this city, left her nursing babe, and nothing has been seen nor heard of her since. It is believed that she has wandered off in her agony and probably perished.

While the jury was out deliberating on a verdict yesterday afternoon, Lucky Baldwin was served with a new move which is generally deemed to indicate that he is "rattled." He transferred a part of his property to other hands! There was filed in the Recorder's office a conveyance of his Santa Anita tract to H. A. Unruh for $350,000. The description will be found under real-estate transfers elsewhere. At the same time, it is understood, he deposited with the Wells Fargo Express Company here the necessary papers to be filed in San Francisco conveying the Baldwin Hotel and other San Francisco property to his little Lulu Drum. It is stated by able legal authority that such a transfer would not hold good against Miss Perkins's judgment. It is understood that the present Mrs. Baldwin is even now taking steps for a divorce.

A Bad Runaway.

At a quarter to 6 o'clock last evening Mr. Holgate and three men in his employ were riding on a gravel wagon at the eastern end of Downey avenue, when the team was frightened by a loose animal coming up behind, and ran away. The loose boards on the bed of the wagon rattled and the men rattled off also. Wm. Stanford, the driver, had a leg and an arm broken. Mr. Holgate was so badly injured that he was unconscious at last reports, and a hand called Patric was badly injured about the face and head. Edward Grimes escaped without serious injury. Dr. Boal attended the unfortunate men.

Death of Mrs. E. Lewis.

The friends of M. Lewis in this city will regret to learn of the sudden death of his mother, Mrs. E Lewis, which occurred in San Francisco Wednesday evening last. The news was a great surprise to Mr. Lewis and he left yesterday for San Francisco. Mrs. Lewis is said by those who knew her to have been a lady of rare personal attainments, and the news of her sudden death will cast a gloom over a large circle of her friends both here and in San Francisco.

K. of P. Annual Parade.

Uniform Rank K. of P. held its annual parade last evening at 7 o'clock. The three divisions of the city—Magnolia, No. 21, Los Angeles, No. 25, and Castle Guards, No. 27—took part. The procession was led by the Eagle Corps band. The line of march was from Armory Hall to the Plaza, returning up Main to Spring, to First, back to the armory. The parade was a fine affair.

BRIEFS.

The friends of temperance have arranged for a mass meeting at the Tabernacle to-morrow (Sunday) at 3 p.m. The meeting will be addressed by Dr. Bowers and others.

Fifty-three colored citizens held an indignation meeting at 218 Los Angeles street, and denounced J. Warren Wilson, Treasurer of the city of Los Angeles, for flooding the city with colored waiters.

Postmaster Green has two especial causes of complaint: One is that the hoodlums tear his time-cards off the letter boxes, and the other that lawless scriveners paste their bulletins on his generaldelivery case at the postoffice.

A division of Sons of Temperance was organized in Good Templar Hall last night with twenty members. Rev. C. W. Farr was elected Worthy Patriarch, and W. W. Taylor Recording Scribe. Mrs. French was appointed Division Deputy and J. H. Blanchard County Deputy.

Dr. Stephen Bowers, of the Ventura Free Press, and W. B. Wadman, G. W. P. of the Sons of Temperance, will address public meetings in this county on the temperance question. They are worthy of a good audience. See advertisement in another column.

CROOKED WORK.

Assessments Levied on Jail Architect Hall

BY A LOCAL SYNDICATE OF JOBBERS.

Startling Development Before a Special Session of the Supervisors Yesterday —Holcomb, the Nervy Witness.

For several days the circumambient air has been loaded with strange rumors. So highly spiced, indeed, were these stories, that they caused people to turn aside temporarily from the all-prevailing Perkins-Baldwin sensation, and talk about those notable personages, Tom Mott and General Bouton. The report ran that John Hall, the architect of the new county jail, had been tampered with by "the lobby," and had been made to give up $1000 in blood money. This coming to the ears of prominent citizens and county officials, caused the holding of a prolonged meeting Wednesday night, at which indisputable evidence of crookedness was adduced. A special session of the Board of Supervisors was called for 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The proceedings yesterday took the form of an official investigation, the witnesses all being placed under oath and their testimony being taken down in shorthand by Frank W. Cherry. The small space in the Supervisors' room available for spectators was filled. Supervisors Macy, Lindley, Foord, Rose and Hinds were present, constituting the entire Board, with President Macy in the chair.

District Attorney Holton conducted the examination on the part of the Supervisors, assisted by W. T. Williams, Esq., and Judge Morgan appeared apparently for Mott and Bouton.

being first sworn by County Clerk Dunsmoor, testified, in substance, as follows: "I am an architect by profession. Some time ago I submitted plans for the county jail. I was successful and my plans were adopted. While the plans were with the board I had no negotiations with anybody outside to secure their adoption. The morning after the plans were adopted, Mr. Bouton took me by the arm and said that some friends up in Temple Block wanted to see me. I supposed they wanted to congratulate me on my success. You go around this side of the block," he said, 'and I'll go around the other way.' I did not know what he meant exactly, but went the way he directed. I met some friends and stopped to talk with them ten minutes, perhaps; then I walked around the block, and, not seeing anybody looking for me, I went to my office. A little while afterwards Bouton came to my office and said I must come down to the bank and get the money—fifteen twenty-dollar pieces. I found Hall in the side room of a saloon in the same block. Bouton's guy with Hall when he went up to pay over the money."

A TENDER SPOT.

Williams: "Did Mott ever demand $2500 from you in consideration of your getting a contract?"

The question was a bombshell, and it brought both Morgan and Mott to their feet with objections. Holton seemed willing to let the question pass, but Williams insisted that it is entirely proper. "If those same parties who extorted money from Hall have been attempting to extort it from Holcomb, they may have represented that they exercised some control over the Board of Supervisors. That is just what we want to find out."

Supervisor Lindley: "We want to know everything connected with it."

Morgan argued against hurrying everybody by unsupported charges in this way.

The Board ruled that it wanted to hear the question answered.

At this point there was a very pretty play. It might be stated as a premise that Morgan and Holton were trying to prevent Holcomb from testifying—even to the extent of trying to intimidate him. Holcomb, in delivering the first part of his testimony, had been seated a little in front of Mott. He now stood up.

"Be seated," said the District Attorney.

HOLCOMB'S REPARTEE.

"No, I prefer to stand," replied the witness. Mott stood up also. The men were side by side, and Mott looked a trifle ugly as to the eyes. The climax seemed to have come.

The District Attorney: "Answer the question."

Holcomb: "This gentleman (pointing to Mott) asked me to pay $2,500 to see my plans go through. He told me that the Sheriff, the District Attorney, the County Clerk and the Hinds were in it and had to be paid. This was the sentence to my bid for cell work. This was after Hall's plans had been adopted. No, sir; I haven't put in a bid yet."

Holton: "Have you paid the money demanded?"

Holcomb: "Not yet, sir. I didn't know any law for such a proceeding. I've never paid money that way before, and I don't propose to do it now."

Supervisor Foord: "Did Mr. Mott tell you he had influence with the Board?"

Holcomb: "He told me he had been in the business twenty-five years, and nobody could get a contract if he opposed it. He told me Murray that I couldn't get the contract after I refused to pay him."

Maj. W. C. Farrey was then sworn, and testified that Tom Mott told him, "in a casual way," that Holcomb couldn't get the contract.

TOM D. MOTT

Holton: "Did you ever see this paper before?" (showing document No. 1.)

Mott: "Don't know, sir."

Holton: "Is it in Bouton's handwriting?"

Mott: "I can't tell you, but I think it is not."

Holton: "Did you ever hear of the matters contained in that paper?"

Mott: "I understand that Hall signed it for Perry, Mott & Co."

Question ordered to issue at once for Mr. Brodrick.

Hall: "I was requested to sign the paper. I copied it, signed the copy, and gave it to Mr. Brodrick and kept the original."

The paper in question was here introduced and identified by the witness. It is as follows, and for convenience is designated here as document No. 1.

A PROMISE TO PAY.

"LOS ANGELES, Jan 22, 1886.

"For value received I hereby sell, transfer and assign to Perry, Mott & Co. the sum of $700, seven hundred dollars, to be paid out of and to be deducted from, retained and withheld from the [first] moneys I may receive or be entitled to as commissions or compensation, or payment for plans drawn for a county jail, or services rendered or to be rendered to the county of Los Angeles in superintending the construction of a jail building for said county, and I hereby order and direct the Board of Supervisors and County Auditor to draw in favor of and deliver to said Perry, Mott & Co. any order or warrant or money I may be or may become entitled to on account of said plans, commissions or services to said extent or amount of said $700. [Signed] JOHN HALL.[]

The original paper brought to me:

JOHN HALL.

NOTES.—This instrument is said to be in the handwriting of General Bouton, except the name "Perry, Mott & Co.," filled in in places evidently left blank for the purpose. The writing of the firm name is said to resemble S. H. Mott's hand.

"First" is crossed off.

The first signature, "John Hall," is cancelled.

OBJECTIONS.

Mr. Morgan objected to the introduction of the paper as unauthenticated, but was overruled by the general voice of the Supervisors, who said they wanted the full story.

Morgan: "Is this Mott of Perry, Mott & Co., the same Mott who had talked to you before?"

Hall: "No."

Mr. Morgan moved to rule out further testimony in this direction, as it was implicating another party.

Chairman Macy: "Go on with the statement."

Hall: "I delivered the paper to Mr. Brodrick. Don't know what became of it after that. Don't know what Bouton did with the $300 I gave him. When we left Mott's office, after I had paid the money, we did not all go out together. Bouton went first, then I went, leaving Mott in the office."

Another paper was here introduced and shown to the witness.

Holton: "Do you know anything about that?"

Hall: "Yes. Mr. Brodrick presented it to me night before last, and I signed it. T. D. Mott was with him, but stayed outside. I was dining at the French restaurant with Mr. Holcomb and Mr. McMullen. Mr. Brodrick requested me to sign the paper, and I signed it."

The paper was then read as follows:

"LOS ANGELES, Feb 17, 1886.

"I, the undersigned, John Hall, having heard rumors to the effect that I had agreed or promised to pay Gen. E. Bouton and Mr. T. D. Mott a sum of money for the purpose of securing the acceptance of my plans for the county jail by the County Board of Supervisors, do hereby deny that I have ever agreed in any manner, shape or form to pay the gentlemen mentioned above any sum of money for such said purpose JOHN HALL."

"Witness: W. J. BRODRICK."

Williams: "Is that statement true?"

Hall: "Yes. I did not pay them money to get my plans adopted."

Holton: "Did Mott or Bouton represent to you that they had influence to control the Board of Supervisors?"

Hall: "No; only the parties named. They said if they could assist me in any way with the Board they would do so."

Williams: "Did you ever, before the final vote on your plans, make a proposition that you would remunerate them for helping to get your plans through?"

Hall: "No, sir."

REPEATS THE STORY.

Williams: "I ask you, Mr. Hall, to repeat the statement that Bouton and Mott made to you when they demanded the money."

Hall: "They made a demand for $1200. I thought it pretty stiff, but I didn't want to squeal. Bouton said I must pay the money; that M

Luckless Baldwin — A Just Verdict.

The now famous Perkins-Baldwin breach-of-promise suit, which has occupied the attention of the Superior Court, Department Two (presided over temporarily by Judge D. P. Hatch, of Santa Barbara,) for the last seventeen days, is at last ended. It was a remarkable case, and has attracted universal attention. Almost the entire populace have followed the evidence closely throughout, and almost without exception the sympathies of the people have been with the young plaintiff. The unanimous verdict rendered by the jury of twelve honest and unpurchasable citizens meets with strong popular approval. The jury found for Miss Perkins in the sum of $75,000, and the popular verdict is, "Served him right!"

A vast mass of testimony was introduced on both sides. Nearly seventy witnesses in all were examined. Some of them, on the side of the defense, were sorry specimens to be called "reputable citizens" and "credible witnesses." The use of Baldwin's money on some of his witnesses is more than suspected. There will be a chance for some prosecutions for perjury.

The case of the defendant was presented with more ability than discretion by his attorneys, Messrs. Wells and Howard. The former, especially, injured his client's case in various ways by his want of judgment in handling it. Now that the suit is finished, so far at least as the lower court is concerned, the TIMES embraces this suitable opportunity to hint to Mr. Baldwin's senior counsel that he never will for a man to undertake too big a contract. In the present case the attempt to fight a newspaper or two, in addition to the cause of justice, was a needless and too burdensome load, and should not have been attempted.

Col. Howard, too, did not help his side by overdoing his favorite style of practice in cases of this sort. He kept the more level head of the two, however, and displayed, in a large degree, that peculiar legal ability which is accorded to him freely.

But on the side of the plaintiff were two lawyers who, in winning their case, have won fame and honor for themselves. Stephen M. White and his associate, W. T. Williams, conducted the prosecution of Miss Perkins's just cause with marked skill, conspicuous ability, and tremendous earnestness; and it is earnestness that tells upon an audience or a jury. Mr. White's manipulation of the witnesses, in both the direct and cross-examinations, was very effective and thorough; and when he came to his argument, no lawyer could have made a more powerful or effective one. He rose to masterful heights and entered the domain of true eloquence at various points in his grand oration to the jury. Williams, too, who preceded his confrère, made a strong speech, tearing to pieces, with fierce and fiery denunciation, the lame stories of Baldwin's quibbling and quaking witnesses.

The Judge on the bench carried himself with commendable sprightliness and impartiality. He held the court, the case, the lawyers, the audience and the witnesses level, and at the close delivered to the jury a clear, able and impartial charge, which assisted them materially in arriving at a conclusion.

"Lucky" Baldwin is lucky no more; and we here predict that his descent has now fully commenced; he is on the down grade, where his countless debaucheries and other crookednesses have placed him at last. This grey-headed and lecherous wrecker of girlish virtue—this "lustful Turk" and social outlaw—this rich and ribald rioter in sexual sin, has at last received a check in his bold, bad career. The law has sternly called him to account for a violated promise of marriage to a confiding girl whom he is proven to have deliberately enticed from the path of virtue; and the law has commanded him to make amends to the deceived girl for his broken promise by the payment to her of seventy-five thousand dollars. The sum is small enough; the verdict is none too heavy.

Baldwin, badly advised, will appeal, and the fight will be continued in a higher tribunal. But we cannot doubt the final outcome. He cannot escape.

Aiming to evade responsibility, he is reported to have already commenced putting his property out of his hands. Whether or not this be altogether true, we are at this writing unable to assert with positiveness; but if it be true, it will not avail this hoary-headed wrong doer. Such transfer of property, at such a time and under such circumstances, would be a fraud on its face. It would not "stick."

We congratulate this community that such a verdict as has been rendered in this case is possible in Los Angeles. It signifies the existence of the qualities of justice and good morals among our people.

AS ALREADY stated in these columns, work has been commenced on the twenty-two miles of the new Railroad line to Yosemite, which will connect with the valley stage line, and its completion is looked for by the 20th of March. This will greatly shorten the time of travel to the valley, and summer travel in that direction will not be slow to avail itself of these increased facilities for making the trip. But after all the best way to see that wonderful region is to go by private conveyance, traveling leisurely, face to face with the sublime grandeur which confronts one from the base of the Sierra foothills to the heart of the valley itself.

THE Santa Cruz Surf notes the fact that the Board of Supervisors of that county are called upon to wrestle with the high-license question. The movement is spreading on the coast.

Every communication received by the editor is pa by and impartially considered, but we d t, of course, undertake to print every thing I us.)

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: Col. Howard, Thursday, in his defense of the grey headed libertine, thus brands California's country girls: "That's a peculiarity of country girls here. They lose their virginity, and never think anything of it." Are the fathers and brothers of those "country girls" going to calmly swallow this dastardly insult to daughters and sisters?

But why does the chivalrous Colonel say "country girls?" It is generally conceded that the temptations and allurements to vice are far greater in the city than in the country. Perhaps it is because the Colonel has selfish decency enough to want to exclude city-raised daughters from the class he seeks to defame.

Again in this same speech, in defense of the modern "Henry VIII," Col. Howard sweepingly proclaims all the fallen girls in San Francisco and Los Angeles to be prostitutes. Now, we assert that there are scores of modest, pure-minded girls in Los Angeles whose fair fame has never before been challenged, and who support themselves, and, in many cases, aged or sickly parents, as shop girls.

Life is full of changes! The high and mighty Col. Howard may get overtaken by poverty and sickness—his rich old patron may die, or, worse, forget him, and the young daughter may bravely show her filial love by working for her father—even as a "shop girl." More improbable things happen every day. We only pray that if such evil days should befall him, no one will, for that cause, seek to blacken and defame a loyal and pure daughter's character.

A WOMAN.

Witness Williams in the Role of a Sneak.

POMONA, Cal., Feb. 18, 1886.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: In regard to the character of Miss Perkins, I do not pretend to know, but of some of the witnesses against her I do. The honorable "Mr. Phillip Williams" I accidentally detected one night [about September 5, 1883,] lurking about my house as an eavesdropping spy, or worse—prowling noiselessly around in his bare feet. The contemptible scoundrel never knew he was discovered, nor does he hear perhaps, he came to being shot on the spot. His general reputation as a dead beat here is too well known for comment. RETRIBUTION.

DISGRACEFUL.

Criminal Carelessness on the Wilmington Branch of the S. P. R. R.

Correspondence of the TIMES.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 17.—For some time past the residents on the line of the Wilmington railroad have been submitting to a downright outrage. The outrage of being treated like cattle, and which culminated last night in a serious though not as yet fatal accident.

The train, as usual, left Los Angeles last night at 6 o'clock, having with it the two air-brakeless fifth-class passenger coaches on the rear end. Every stop on the way down to the Long Beach station was a series of severe joltings.

In nearing this latter station the brakeman called out Long Beach, and the passengers prepared to leave train. While they were standing in the aisle of the car the train came to a sudden stop that precipitated them one upon another in a heap by the door. Before they had fairly recovered from this shock, the train started forward with considerable rapidity, and then came to an almost perfect standstill in a moment. Before anyone could or did give warning the crash came.

One passenger standing in the door of the rear coach was hurled headlong across both platforms, into the next coach, and half-way down the car. Here he brought up with his head in the pit of a gentleman's stomach, and his side against the iron frame-work of the car seat. The gentleman standing just behind him, Mr. Christy, of Long Beach, was thrown through the window in the end of the car, crushing the shutter into a hundred pieces. An elderly lady of Los Angeles, Mrs. Toy, was thrown against the door on the floor, and sustained a very severe wound over the left eye. Had it been an inch farther to the left, it would have killed her instantly. So the physician said who dressed the wound. The daughter of Mrs. Toy was cruised against the door also, receiving an ugly bruise on the cheek. Behind these, men and women were piled up like cordwood, in the forward end of the car. Think of it for a moment, you who are in delicate health, and ask yourself if it was not an outrage and disgrace.

So severe was the shock on the rear cars and the coaches, which, by the way, have no air-brakes attached to the other part of the train, that the rebound separated the train, smashed in two or three drawheads and the end of one box-car.

Who is to blame? No one! After the accident occurred the conductor went forward to attend to freight, leaving the passengers with bleeding wounds to find their baggage and get out of the cars as best they could. Only when called upon, did he come back and give assistance. Could cattle be treated more harshly?

Now, this is not the first occurrence of this kind. It is a constant thing, as all travelers over this line know. Look at the facts. The trains are always long and heavy. They are drawn by a mogul or consolidated engine of great tonnage. This engine must be under the control of the engineer, who, when he desires, can bring the train to a stop as quick as a rancher can throw a steer. The passenger coaches having no air brakes, it is only imagined what the result is. Now, in the name of common sense, why should people be forced to ride on such trains, and pay first-class rates for travel? I say nothing of going twenty miles in two hours.

Give us the California Southern or some railroad; if not, let us have a first-class mule team, which would be as good as our present accommodation.

Having been one of the sufferers, and knowing whereof I speak, Mr. Editor, please give the people warning as to what they must expect when going over this line. S. J. FLEMING.

SANTA ANA.

AGRICULTURAL ACHIEVEMENTS OF BEER BAKER.

Correspondence of the TIMES.

SANTA ANA, Thursday, Feb. 18.—A real treat was enjoyed by those who were so fortunate as to attend the concert given by J. W. Gardiner and his company of accomplished musicians on last Saturday night. The pieces were all of the choicest music and were rendered in the highest perfection of the art. Nothing but the most thoroughly drill, accompanied with good taste, could prepare the performers for such an exhibition. The only regret is that a larger audience did not greet the performers.

Grace Hawthorne and her company performed to good houses on Monday and Tuesday evenings this week; also held a matinee on Tuesday afternoon. The performances were all well received.

A Riverside dispatch visited this vicinity Monday night, doing no perceptible damage save the unsettling of one or two wind-mills.

Supervisor Ross has been in our midst during the past week, looking after the road interests.

The timber for the bridge over the Santiago creek is nearly all on the ground and the work of driving the piles for the support of the bridge timber has already begun.

Baker, of the Standard, has made a fortune off of his nut and fruit ranch near Anaheim, and now wishes to retire and let some impecunious fellow take the ranch and reap the benefits of its productiveness. Baker began some two or three years ago with a broncho and some uncultivated land, and now retires, as he claims to, to some shady spot in Santa Ana, where he can rest and look after the interests of the Standard's patrons just for the pleasure of it.

Orange shipments are lively just now.

Mrs. Denton, sister of Mrs. Gist, of this place, died quite unexpectedly on Monday night, and was buried to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Denton had but recently returned from a protracted visit to the East.

Board of Supervisors.

FRIDAY, February 19.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

In the matter of jail plans Supervisor Hinds and county officers demanded an investigation of alleged statements that money had been paid by John Hall, architect, to E. Bouton and T. D. Mott to bend to prevent the rejection of Hall's plans, after the same had been adopted. [Fully reported elsewhere.]

In the matter of the San Fernando road, a hearing was given and action deferred. The Clerk was directed to advertise for bids, to be received up to March 2d for a bridge at the Old Mission, San Gabriel.

The plans and specifications for said bridge submitted by M. H. Lodbetter were adopted.

A Pasadena Highland Home.

SEEKERS OF HOME PROPERTY SHOULD visit the grounds to be sold at auction Thursday, Feb. 25, in Pasadena Highlands. Too much in their praise cannot be said. A visit alone will convince you that perfection of location is a moderate estimate of their actual worth. Residents of the valley who saw this locality after having purchased their home in the valley, have expressed a desire regret that they did not first examine this m st beautiful site.

We do not wish you to rely solely on our representations, but do ask and urge you to go out and see for yourself. The grandeur of the scenery will well repay cost and trouble. Take your name plate with you, as the scenery is limited by the limit of vision only.

So long as you intend to build a home somewhere in this vicinity, why not first see if what we claim is not true, viz: That no site near Los Angeles compares with it in beauty of scene and magnificence of surroundings.

These lots, in size nearly one half acre each, permit cultivation of the most delicious fruit trees and vines they now contain. Mountain water of the best quality piped to each lot. Mr. L. Swarthout, the owner, until day of sale, opens daily looks after visitors. A special excursion train will be run on day of sale, leaving at 10 a. m., for accommodation of guests from Los Angeles. Tickets 50c. For sale by Messrs. Stoll & Thayer, stationers, No. 3 S. Spring st., on and after Thursday, 18th inst., to day before sale. See auction and excursion advertisement in another column.

THE CLOSE OF A REMARKABLE CASE.

Stephen M. White's Magnificent Argument—The Charge—A Righteous Verdict.

Court was called to order at 9 a. m yesterday. Baldwin was not present, evidently not caring to hear the sequel to the terrific arraignment on which Mr. White had started the day before. Neither was Col. Howard there. Plaintiff was present with her father, mother, sister and brother-in-law. The room was filled with listeners of all grades. G. W. Glower explained to the Court that in coming in past the doorkeeper the day before he had done so in ignorance of the rule just fixed, and had no intention of disobeying orders. Judge Hatch said he was glad of the explanation, cheerfully purged the young attorney of contempt, and hoped no injury had been done.

MR. WHITE CLOSES.

A Clear, Logical and Powerful Argument.

At 9:05 Mr. White stood out to finish the closing argument for plaintiff. His speech, which lasted till 11:50, was one of the strongest, most manly and most eloquent addresses ever heard in the old Courthouse, or in this city. A long-hand report gives but a meager idea of its power, and owing to lack of space the last half has been greatly condensed. He said in effect:

* * * * * * *

The first we know of this girl is that she was born in Nevada county in this State. Her father has always been a laboring person, making a frugal living, and a little beside, by honest toil. She is now 19, according to all the evidence. Considering all she has gone through—the suffering from her repudiation, the long mental and physical strain, which might well tear down a stronger constitution, she bears evidence of no greater age.

In early girlhood, she goes with her parents to Ventura county—and here two sets of circumstances are claimed to have occurred: the Rudy and Swinney episode, told by Caselli, and the alleged rape recounted by Mrs Dexter. Let me tell you why this evidence is introduced. Mr. Baldwin did not come here on a straight proposition. The line of defense has been that there was a engagement, and that the engagement was broken off because plaintiff was unchaste. I think a man should die everything in his power to free himself. Would an honorable man do that? But this man hankered for the chance. He enjoys breaking down female character as a boastful sport. Here is a man who comes to testify for a man like the defendant that this poor girl violated the very law of decency. Caselli testified that this scene between the girl and Bud Swinney occurred in 1878. He was clear on the date, for I cross-examined him particularly as to that. He remembered that the Perkinses left Ventura county in '79, and swore positively that the occurrence was not in the same year. The fact is, as we have proved, that Bud Swinney never saw this girl till a few weeks before the family moved, in the latter part of '79. How did he get off on dates? Why, he had adopted a mistake of Mathews's, and this Caselli a virtuous farmer or a miserable perjurer? He swears that he saw the girl with Swinney ten or eleven months before she ever saw Swinney! Then he says Swinney told him about that bedroom at the Perkins house—how there was one little room in which they all slept, Mr. Perkins and his wife in one bed, the little girl in another and Bud in a third; how one night Bud got up in the night and toddled over to the other infant's trundle bed, and they had sexual intercourse; how Bud Swinney told this! Did you ever hear such a yarn before? Why, I've heard of an unarmed man who was attacked by a ravening bear, and he thrust his hand down the bear's throat, caught him by the root of the tail, turned him wrong side inside out—whereupon the bear turned around and ran the other way. That exceeds a little impossibility to me, but is a reasonable story, capable of mathematical demonstration, beside this fable of Caselli's. Caselli goes to Mcilvin and makes his little proposition, of which you have already heard. They want to know why McIlvin comes way down here to testify to it. Why, if good new Caselli was going to swear to such a false story, wouldn't you come down and let the truth be known? McIlvin came like a man because he had found what Caselli was going to testify. Collyer had been hovering around, and Caselli knew just how far he could go. Collyer had been approached by Bud Swinney with corrupt proposals. Poor as Bud was, they couldn't get him. They might get his old father to come in here and try to impeach his son, but Bud had too much man in him for them. Bud appeared on the stand and Col. Howard said he could read truth in the faces of his witnesses. Well, that beats me—I guess Bud Swinney lost that game. They all agree that there was more than one room in that house; that Bud never slept in that house, and that he never even saw the girl till just before they moved.

Then Mrs Dexter testifies that the girl told her that she had been raped at 13. If it were so, it is nothing against the girl's chastity. Rape means that it was against her will. This is a probable story, isn't it? The girl denies it. Who is this Mrs. Dexter? You remember we were told in the court-room how horribly sick she was, and we went down there on tiptoe. Her deposition at first was taken because she was "dying" there. But it wouldn't work. In the deposition she swore she slept with Louise every night during that first visit to San Francisco—but that was their game at first, to swear it through and show that Baldwin didn't have a chance to sleep with the child then. They were compelled to deny the visit to Sacramento and San José—but they found the San José register stood in the name of Mrs. Dexter and daughter. So it was necessary to change the deposition; and when I questioned her before you she swore differently from what she had before. She had to admit that part of her sworn deposition was true and part not—she couldn't tell what was true and what was false. From her own testimony she is a man's having a good character once and losing it. Caselli may be rich, or he may be poor. The general nature of his testimony is repellant. Here is a man that comes from another county, without subpœna, and waits around for a chance to tell a horrible story, against an unfortunate girl and in behalf of a man who is able to take care of himself. Would an honorable man do that? But this man hankered for the chance. He enjoys breaking down female character as a boastful sport. Here is a man who comes to testify for a man like the defendant that this poor girl violated the very law of decency. Caselli testified that this scene between the girl and Bud Swinney occurred in 1878. He was clear on the date, for I cross-examined him particularly as to that. That exceeds a little impossibility to me, but is a reasonable story, capable of mathematical demonstration, beside this fable of Caselli's. Caselli goes to McIl
